UBER DRIVER ARRESTED ON LARCENY CHARGES

Trumbull Police charged an UBER driver with Larceny after he was hired to drive a Trumbull woman, and then later used her Debit Card to make purchases for his own personal use.

The driver Antwon Mc Cray, birthdate 12-21-83, withheld a passengers Debit Card after she used it to pay for her transportation, and then convinced her that he had returned it to her.

Mc Cray then used the card to make several purchases from area businesses in Fairfield, Norwalk, and Darien.

Mc Cray is a convicted felon and is currently on parole from New York. At the time of the incident he was wearing a GPS Ankle Monitoring Device which monitors his movements. He has a lengthy criminal history which includes several felony and misdemeanor convictions.

After learning of a warrant for his arrest, Mc Cray turned himself in to authorities in Albany, New York. He was subsequently extradited back to Trumbull on Thursday March 2nd, where will face several Larceny and Criminal Impersonation charges. He is currently being held on $50,000.00 bond and is scheduled to appear in court on March 09, 2017.
